The Honorable William J. Casey
Director of Central Intelligence
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Bill:

A constituent from Vermont, [redacted] recently inquired about employment possibilities at the Select Committee on Intelligence. Unfortunately, on our small staff we have no opening for [redacted]. However, I am so impressed by his extraordinary background in military matters, intelligence and Soviet affairs, including the Russian language, that I wanted to call him to the attention of your agency. It may be that you would have a use for someone of [redacted] extensive experience, and particularly his Russian language ability.

I hope you can give him careful consideration. I would appreciate hearing from you on whether there might be a need for [redacted] at the CIA.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Pat

Dear Senator Leahy:

I am writing to apply for employment as a staff member of the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence.

I desire to return to work in a profession for which I possess the requisite education, experience, and aptitude to build a successful career.

I am completely conversant with the national intelligence process and with the organization and functions of the US Intelligence Community.

I am a superior manager/administrator, an articulate, persuasive communicator, and a person who enjoys the "people-and-politics" dimension of decision-making and policy-making.

For initial references, you may contact Lieutenant General William E. Odom, Director, National Security Agency and Lieutenant General (Retired)
